

Customer Service

Fox's fully-staffed Customer Service Department stands ready to answer any question from a customer or prospect. You can reach our service personnel by phone, fax, or e-mail 24 hours a day at the addresses shown below. They'll get you fast, accurate answers to any question regarding product reliability, special testing, lot traceability, in-stock availability, and price and delivery data. For highly technical questions, please us call during normal business hours (Eastern Time Zone) to talk with one of our engineers.

Worldwide Availability

Fox's worldwide distribution network includes more than 300 stocking distributor locations throughout the world. Their well-stocked shelves contain the most popular items in our catalog for immediate local delivery.

In addition, Fox also maintains a global network of sales reps. Call on them to help with design and performance parameters, as well as custom manufacturing information.
